

It was a referral off campus. The drive started with checking all the documents which we were intimated to carry along with the hall ticket.

the eligibility criteria was 65% in 10th and 12th and 70% in B tech.

Although I was already placed in another company ...getting into IBM was a dream come true. and very much like you'll see weeks before I was scanning previous years papers.

Believe me friends ...don't get impatient if you do not get selected in some company..its just because it was not your day ..you'll surely be when it will be your day...:)) well coming to the written...

we had a 15 minute English language test..we were given a paragraph..reading that we had to summarize the scenario to a client in just six sentences.

then there was aptitude test...

the test comprised of 3 sets..

1) data matrices..13 minutes 15 questions.

2) number series..4 minutes 10 questions..

3) mathematical reasoning .. 12 minutes 10 questions..

we were made to wait for 3 hours...

in my group the topic was ,solar energy or atomic energy is going to be the future energy..dont panic...in group discussion..just try to get an opportunity to speak ..we all first introduced ourselves...then every1 was given a chance to speak on the topic..discussion forum was open all discussed..and finally every1 gave the conclusion one by one...

except 1 student rest all cleared....dont hesitate..dont panic..just speak without fumbling and making grammatical mistakes..expressing logical and relevant ideas...

next we waited for interview..my name was called..

hr and tech interview..

hr questions were like..introduce yourself..some situation based questions... puzzles...

tech..database queries..basic C program...project description...your role in project..

and finally ready to relocate..done it..

we were made to sit..and finally hr came and announced our names..and gave us the offer form..that was the happiest moment for me...and we were told that very shortly we will have to join...BY god's grace I can call myself an IBMer.. :))
